Minister will push Network
Rail for train station revamp

THE Minister for Transport has committed to putting pressure on Network Rail to revamp Luton's rundown railway station.

Patrick McLoughlin visited the town last week for the groundbreaking ceremony of Luton Airport's new expansion and was shown a copy of January 17's Luton on Sunday by Councillor John Young, who was driving him around on the day.

Conservative Cllr Young, who sits on Luton Borough Council said: "It was the ideal opportunity to speak to him about it."

"I showed him a copy of the newspaper and he was genuinely shocked at the state of our station and that something had to be done about it."

"He told me that there was no money in the budget for the government to do anything about it directly, but he insisted he would be putting pressure on Network Rail for improvements to be made to the station."

This is a cross-party issue in the town, with Labour Councillor Sian Timoney on Friday announcing the launch of a petition to put pressure on both Network Rail and Thameslink for something to be done, which can be found here www.change.org/p/thameslink-network-rail-get-luton-station-back-on-track

Cops seek injunction against Britain First

BY NICK SMITH

nick.smith@lutononsunday.co.uk

POLICE are seeking to ban the far right group Britain First from returning to Luton to carry out further anti-muslim protests in the town.

Last Saturday Britain First staged a demonstration in Bury Park, which it deemed a 'no-go zone' for non-Muslims.

At a packed meeting at Bury Park Community Centre on Wednesday night residents called for the group to be banned from the town.

Bedfordshire Police, who were also present at the meeting, vowed to pursue an injunction against the group which held the unannounced march in response to two Luton men being found guilty for supporting ISIS last week.

Assistant chief constable Mark Collins said: "We are making three commitments, the first being an investigation which will leave no stone unturned, the second is that we will be seeking an injunction to prevent Britain First from returning to Luton and thirdly that no members of the local community will be arrested over the events of last Saturday."

Speaking at the meeting, Akbar Dad Khan, from community group Building Bridges, said: "I have been coming to similar meetings for the past 30 years, people seem very reluctant to learn from them."

"Every time a meeting is held, it's discussed and that's the end of it."

"The police force has been aware of this problem for a long time so you would think that they would have a plan in place by now."

"We need to do more than meeting at a community centre."

A number of proposals were put forward, with the planned motion to ban the group from Luton receiving the most support.

Britain First has claimed to represent Christianity, with the march last weekend even being a self-proclaimed 'Christian patrol'.

A video of the demonstration has since been viewed over 25 million times online, which Luton Borough Council's chief executive Trevor Holden feels will only further jar the public's views of Luton.

In a fightback Luton's Christian community showed its solidarity with the Muslim community in Bury Park, taking to the streets the following day in support.

Rev Bonnie Evans-Hills of the St Albans Diocese went one step further, calling for Britain First to be listed as a proscribed group, in a similar vein to groups such as ISIS.

However, the group has insisted it plans on returning to Luton.

Deputy leader Jayda Fransen said: "We will be returning, maybe in the coming months but also possibly in the coming weeks. We're coming back because these no-go zones do exist."

Mum's sepsis warning

A WOMAN is urging people to be aware of the dangers of sepsis after her daughter contracted the illness last year.

Rachel Oyoo, 33, said: "In May last year my daughter Rosie, who was then two, was diagnosed with chicken pox, which after being missed by several GPs was spotted by staff at Luton and Dunstable Hospital four days after the first GP visit."

Can I be Frank – why name storms?

ABIGAIL, Barney, Clodagh, Desmond, Eva, Frank and Gertrude.

Not the Osmonds reloaded, but the names of the seven official storms to have hit the UK since the Met Office started personifying bad weather.

The forecaster has plenty more up its sleeve too, not least thanks to helpful members of the public who answered its call for suggestions last year.

Visit metoffice.gov.uk and you will find an A-Z of our storms and the dates they hit, beginning with Abigail on November 12, 2015. Scroll down and an ominous cast of characters – including Henry, Nigel, Orla and Vernon – await their date stamp.

One comedian has joked that this could be the register of a hip North London school. But I wouldn't blame the hundreds of home and business owners in the flood-struck north for failing to see the funny side.

So why did the Met Office decide to start naming storms? Apparently it's confusing. But are our storms really that confusing? I hadn't thought so.

Education needed to put a stop to motorway crashes

BY KATHRYN CAIN
editor@lsnmedia.co.uk

TAKING a separate test to learn motorway skills after you obtain your basic driving licence should be compulsory, according to local driving instructors.

Les Stonnell, from the LADC School of Motoring based in Luton, was speaking in a week that saw at least one accident on the M1 between junctions nine and 14 each day - and four major crashes in just 13 hours on Wednesday night and Thursday morning. Nationally in the year to June 2015, there were 180,500 reported road casualties of all severities.

The surge in collisions sparked concern among drivers locally - some of whom say they feel unsafe using the motorway.

Last month the Department for Transport announced it was considering new measures to improve road safety - including lifting the ban on learners going on motorways before passing their test.

Mr Stonnell said: "It needs to happen but after their basic test - not before. We should have a staged driving test. The normal one just means you are basically competent - not an expert, although some people think they are. After you've passed that you should have to do another compulsory lesson to be able to go on motorways."

Mr Stonnell believes the biggest cause of accidents on British motorways is drivers not leaving a large distance between themselves and the car in front - although Bedfordshire police and crime commissioner Olly Martins believes it's down to the four 'fatal factors': speed, seatbelts, substances (drink/drugs) and distractions.

He said: "We know in general that the 'fatal' four factors contribute to the vast majority of collisions."

"The government is not cutting our funding by as much as I had feared so I no longer need to maximise revenue from the speed cameras. Nonetheless we have speed limits for a reason and enforcing them helps make our roads safer."

Hospital thanked by family

MRS Oyoo, who lives with her husband Vincent, Rosie and their other two children Mabel and Marley, in Limbury Road, Luton has expressed appreciation for the work done by the hospital to realise the possibility of it being sepsis (blood poisoning) so soon after arrival but has urged people to take note of the symptoms.

These include muscle pain, not passing urine and mottled or discoloured skin.

She said: "We had a fantastic nurse there who called a consultant straight away and took the issue very seriously."

"Rosie is absolutely fine with, touch wood, no lasting affects from sepsis." "Given the time it took for it to be noticed we just want more awareness of the symptoms, especially in light of the tragic news regarding William Mead which emerged earlier this week."

The one-year-old died in December 2014, with national news saying that a lack of awareness and the length of time until he was treated played a part in his death, caused by sepsis.

A spokesman for Luton and Dunstable Hospital said: "We are very pleased that Rosie has made such a good recovery, and we are very grateful to Rachel for all she is doing to raise awareness of sepsis."

Terror pair jailed for boosting ISIS

BY NICK SMITH

nick.smith@lutononsunday.co.uk

TWO men have been jailed for a total of five years after being found guilty of terrorism offences last week.

Ibrahim Anderson, 38, of Dallow Road, Luton, was convicted last week of inviting support for a proscribed organisation, contrary to section 12 of the Terrorism Act 2000 on August 9, 2014, and on December 16, 2014 possessed information of a kind likely to be useful to a person committing or preparing an act of terrorism, contrary to section 58 of the Terrorism Act 2000.

Shah Jahan Khan, 62, of St Catherine's Avenue, Luton, has been convicted of inviting support for a proscribed organisation, contrary to section 12 of the Terrorism Act 2000 on August 9, 2014.

On Friday they were jailed for three and two years respectively and have also been added to the terrorism register, which they will be listed on for 10 years.

London's Old Bailey heard that the two men were part of a group of men that erected a stall on Oxford Street, close to Marble Arch Tube Station. During the course of the afternoon they assisted in distributing leaflets to people which encouraged support for the Caliphate announced by Daesh, commonly known as ISIS.

They were heard to make comments supporting Daesh.

The witnesses took pictures of the two convicted men and later reported the matter to police.

Both were arrested on

CAGED: Ibrahim Anderson (pictured) and Shah Jahan Khan have been jailed for terrorism offences from 2014

December 16, 2014, and their homes searched.

A computer belonging to Anderson was seized.

When the computer was examined three images were recovered which were part of a set of instructions for travel to Syria to support jihad.

Met Police commander Dean Haydon said: "These men were openly supporting a terrorist organisation whose behaviour is abhorrent to the majority of people across the world.

"Their actions on a busy London street were challenged by members of the public who were appalled by what they observed."

"The MPS Counter Terrorism Command rightly investigated this case and would encourage others to come forward if they have concerns about terrorist related activity."

Probe into grocery waste

THE council has said it is working urgently to investigate why commercial waste has been allowed to pile up at the back of food stores in Bury Park.

Luton Borough Council said its officers were working to identify the owner of land at the rear of shops in Dunstable Road which is overflowing with cardboard boxes, plastic trays and even a television.

The waste was spotted last weekend by a member of the public who said he was concerned it could become a 'breeding ground for vermin'. The section of Dunstable Road is home to sweet shop Ambala Foods, grocery shops Kashmir Stores, Medina Superstore and Haji Foods, and restaurant Shahi Nan Kebbab.

When contacted by Luton on Sunday, Ambala, Kashmir, Medina and Haji declined to comment. Faisal Khan, owner of Shahi Nan, said: "It is cleaned up regularly and once in a while the health inspector comes in to give people a slap on the wrist but there are four shops dropping their cardboard boxes."

"So when they get their deliveries and then it rains, they don't want to touch it. I think if there was a long-term solution then the health adviser would have said."

"I have not been the one putting the rubbish there so I am not responsible."

"I have my own bin collection and sometimes I

THAT'S JUST RUBBISH: Council officers said they were 'aware' of the waste see other rubbish in my bin. We are a restaurant so we do not have cardboard boxes. I think over the years as more shops have opened it has got worse."

A council spokesman said: "The council is aware of this location and we are working urgently within our powers to identify the landowner and require them to remove the waste. "Our investigation is ongoing."

Day care plans come under fire

BY CARL MUNGAZI

carl.mungazi@lutononsunday.co.uk

PROPOSALS to close two day centres and move users to another location have been labelled as 'unfair'.

Luton Borough Council wants to shut the African Caribbean Day Centre in Trinity Road and the Milan Day Centre in Solway Road North and move them to the St Monica's centre in St. Ives Close.

The service supports people over 65, people with dementia and adults with physical disabilities. Council officers said a decline in users meant it needed to make changes.

However, Norris Bullock, from the Luton St. Vincent and The Grenadines Association, accused the council of 'trying to lump everyone together'. He said the town's black community had 'worked hard' without the council's assistance to get the Trinity Road centre running initially and were concerned about its future should the building be sold.

Mr Bullock added: "It is really about providing a service that meets the needs of the local people. Although the needs will be similar for the Asian community at the Milan centre and Afro-Caribbean at Trinity Road, some of them are different."

"I don't think it will be fair for the users because they will not want to go. Some of them have dementia and will not understand."

"You don't want them to leave the service because they will become isolated at home."

A council spokesman said: "The proposed new venue, St Monica's, is large enough to accommodate all service users, and has a number of separate areas which will allow us to maintain the cultural diversity of the three centres. The centre is also more accessible and is single-use, which is better for customers with dementia."

The spokesman also said a consultation on the proposals was underway, with a decision expected on April 4.

FINALLY - Straight talk About Sciatica

Are you suffering from back pain or sciatica? Then it's likely your biggest problem is pain. But there's another major problem: bad information.

To end sciatica misery you must have the right information. Pay close attention because I'm going to destroy sciatica myths and give you the facts.

MYTH: Sciatica will just "go away" with some rest.

FACT: If you are dealing with back pain, buttock pain or leg pain, then you must seek help from a sciatica specialist immediately. Left untreated, sciatica can lead to permanent nerve damage - and lifelong pain.

MYTH: Pain is the only problem associated with sciatica.

FACT: In severe cases, sciatica can lead to the inability to control your bowels or bladder - leading to embarrassing situations.

MYTH: You must take pain medications to deal with sciatica.

FACT: Drugs like muscle relaxants, pain killers, narcotics, antidepressants, and anti-seizure medications have serious potential side-effects and do not cure the root cause of sciatica.

MYTH: "I must have done something wrong to get sciatica."

FACT: Physical work or simply sitting at a desk for long periods can lead to sciatica. Accidents and trauma can also be the culprits. Pregnancy can cause sciatica. Sciatica can affect anyone - including super-fit celebrities like Tiger Woods, Sylvester Stallone, and British Olympic medalist Ian Wynne.

MYTH: Stop exercising and get several weeks of bed rest to overcome sciatica.

FACT: Staying active can help to relieve sciatic pain and prevent the pain getting worse. Staying inactive in bed could be the worst advice - based on a recent study in the Netherlands.

MYTH: Sciatica requires surgery.

FACT: NO! There's been a huge breakthrough in the treatment of sciatica and lower back pain. It's a new procedure called Non-Surgical Re-Constructive Spinal Care. The excellent results from this treatment have been published in major medical journals. Success rates are up to 90%.

MYTH: "There's nothing anyone can really do. I'm just stuck with this for the rest of my life."

FACT: With the correct treatment from a healthcare professional who specialises in sciatica, you can find relief from the core cause - and the symptoms.

MYTH: Getting Sciatica properly diagnosed is expensive.

FACT: Not true. Peter Olsson of Atlas Wellness Centre in Bedfordshire is currently offering an initial consultation for Just £43.

Peter Olsson - Sciatica Expert in Bedford.

Peter Olsson is one of the UK's leading sciatica experts. Peter and his team of fully-trained spinal care specialists have helped over 4,026 patients find relief from agonising back pain and sciatica. He's one of the first professionals in the UK to use Non-Surgical Re-Constructive Spinal Care.

This procedure does not require a hospital stay. The focus is on finding - and correcting - the original cause of the back pain and sciatica.

According to Olsson, "We use a combination of ultra-advanced technology, not found elsewhere in the region, for precisely diagnosing the cause of your low back pain and sciatica. This means superior long-term results for most people."

Almost Immediate Relief From Pain

Because the treatment is non-surgical, safe, and easy, most patients report an almost immediately relief from their back pain.

Patient Jeff P. from Cambridge wrote, "My back pain was unbearable but the worst thing was the searing burning pain I felt in my buttock and leg... my wife insisted I see Peter Olsson. I'm 95% better in just a couple of weeks."

Take the Next Step - END the Suffering... Initial Consultation Just £43

Luton on Sunday is teaming up with the spine therapy specialists at Atlas Wellness Centre to help readers find relief from their persistent back and sciatic pain.

The first step is a thorough sciatica examination with the specialists at Atlas Wellness Centre.

£7k compensation for tooth nightmare

BY CARL MUNGAZI
carl.mungazi@lutononsunday.co.uk

A MAN who lost a tooth after dentists failed to spot and treat decay over sixth months has won a £7,000 out-of-court settlement.

Network Rail engineer Andrew Presswell, 50, from Lewsey Farm, visited Houghton Regis Dental Centre where he was examined by Dr Sneha Parekh and Dr Anjali Mehta between October 2013 and April 2014.

The initial treatment left him with pain in his upper left tooth because the dentists did not treat a chronic infection.

He was told his tooth had to be removed but the procedure resulted in more pain and a visit to the Luton and Dunstable Hospital.

Andrew said: "I went to hospital to be treated, I couldn't drive and I had a massive needle inserted into my gum to remove the pus which was making my face swell up.

"Once again, I couldn't believe what was happening to me."

He added: "When they messed up my tooth they said they would refer me to the hospital. When I went back to the dentist they pulled me into a room and were very apologetic."

Andrew said the pain was due to roots left in his gum during the tooth removal. He needed corrective treatment over an 11-month period, which ended in surgery to remove the remaining roots.

He said after discovering he would need regular treatment for the rest of his life he contacted the Dental Law Partnership and managed to bring a successful legal claim against the dentists.

He added: "But I would still use the surgery. My boys are still at the surgery and I would use it because those two dentists have moved on."

"I am happy with the surgery as a whole."

A spokeswoman for the dental surgery said: "We are pleased that the matter involving two previous dentists who have since left the practice has been brought to a satisfactory conclusion so that all parties can now move on. We always strive to provide the best possible care."

Cloudy2Clear Windows – Service With A Smile!

It's been a crazy few months for Cloudy2Clear Windows. The company which specialises in repairing windows which are steamed up, broken or damaged by replacing the panes – not the frames has grown rapidly as homeowners take advantage of their services.

Managing Director Tom Bliss feels that it's all about service. 'Our product is simple. If your double glazing is misted up we can replace the glass at a fraction of the cost of a new window, in any type of frame, and with a new 10 year guarantee. But it's not just about saving people money, although that obviously helps. Many tradespeople have struggled since last year and I honestly feel that during the good times a minority perhaps didn't focus on customer care as much as they should have done. We make sure we turn up when we say we will, do the job the customer requires and leave their house as clean as a whistle. I often get comments back from customers on how they really didn't expect that sort of service which, in a way, is very sad for the service industry as a whole.'

Cloudy2Clear service the Luton, Dunstable and Stevenage areas and Tom is finding that his approach is a major factor in his success.

'The truth is that it's not just the personal satisfaction that I get from doing a good job but also it makes good business sense. I get a huge amount of business from friends and family of people I've done work for, which just goes to show how much a little bit of effort is appreciated.'

So, if your windows are steamed up, broken or damaged give Tom a call for a free quotation on 0800 61 21 118 and he'll be happy to help!

FRESH APPEAL OVER SHOPKEEPER MURDER

POLICE have reissued an appeal for information as part of their investigation into the murder of a Luton man three weeks ago.

At approximately 9.20pm on Wednesday, January 6, Atul Shah, 47, of Crescent Road, was found dead at his home address.

Officers subsequently launched a murder investigation and they, along with members of Atul's family, are continuing to urge the public to come forward with information.

Anyone with information is asked to contact 101, quoting Op Livingston.

WOMAN DIES AFTER BEING HIT BY TRAIN

A WOMAN died after she was struck by a train at Legrave train station on Monday night.

A British Transport Police spokesman said: "Officers attended along with colleagues from Bedfordshire Police and medics from East of England Ambulance Service, but a woman was pronounced dead at the scene."

The woman's family has been informed and her death is not being treated as suspicious. Delays affected both Thameslink and East Midlands Train services as a result of the incident.

Pair suspended over social media misuse

nick.smith@lutononsunday.co.uk

TWO council employees were suspended from their roles as a result of social media policy breaches last year, it has emerged.

In the 2014/15 financial year two people were suspended by Luton Borough Council and eventually left their employment with the authority. One employee was suspended for four and a half months, before being dismissed by the council.

Another resigned after being suspended for four days, a Freedom of Information request by the BBC revealed.

In the previous year, 2013/14, one employee was warned for their social media use and another received a suspension.

A spokesman for the Local Government Association said: "All councils have their own internet and social media usage policies which their staff will be expected to adhere to."

"Some staff will use social media as part of their day-to-day job but for all staff, councils are clear that while some personal use of social media at work is acceptable, it must be reasonable and appropriate in terms of both the time spent and the content.

"The vast majority of council employees abide by that."

"Councils take very seriously any misuse and, as these figures show, will deal robustly with cases that are unacceptable."

Luton Borough Council would not comment on the dismissals.

DOZYPARKERS

Used car lot

THIS week's dozy parker features two cars, both of which are up for sale, parked in a precarious position in Saywell Road.

A concerned reader sent these photos in saying that it is common for vehicles to be parked up on this kerb and is worried it could lead to an accident involving children as this is a commonly used crossing point for children at Ashcroft School.

BLOGGER OF THE WEEK: Bishop Richard Atkinson

Unity across Bury Park

A video released by the far right group Britain First last weekend sought to show divisions between religious communities in Luton's Bury Park.

The group claims to represent Christian values, but the Bishop of Bedford, Richard Atkinson, thinks otherwise.

In the words of Christ, 'Blessed are the peacemakers.'

The actions of Britain First in Luton last weekend are not those of peacemakers.

They are deeply provocative, self-fulfilling, self-serving and not recognisably actions motivated by any expression of Christian faith that I recognise.

Local churches, including the churches in Bury Park walk through the town at Easter carrying a cross in witness to the suffering, death and resurrection of Christ, which Easter celebrates.

They are met with warmth and respect.

Led by the Vicar of Bury Park, the Revd David Kesterton, the churches' response this weekend was to show love to heal wounds caused by the self-serving actions of Britain First.

People of goodwill in Luton from the churches and other faith communities work together, live together, laugh together and build a future in which people live well together.

They have built up strong and resilient relationships of friendship and service to the community.

Not least through organisations such as Grassroots and the Luton Council of Faiths, as well as through co-operation in programmes such as 'Near Neighbours'.

Near Neighbours, a national initiative, recently chose Luton in which to celebrate its 1,000th grant which helps to transform communities.

This grant was used to build a peace garden and community allotment, sited in the grounds of All Saints Church, Bury Park.

They provide much needed community open space in the parish.

A garden and an allotment wonderfully illustrate the work of building up communities.

They cannot grow overnight, but can be damaged, accidentally or deliberately, all too quickly. Most people in Luton resist the forces acting to tear them apart and choose to follow the way of peace and living well together.

Living well together embraces that compassion and concern for our fellow human beings that bridges difference.

We know it when we see it and it is much evident in Luton.

It has been very evident in the actions of Father David Kesterton, Peter Adams from St Mary's Church and others from our communities working hard to show anyone who might have doubted it, even for an instant, that Britain First does not speak for the churches of Luton, or of anywhere.

In the wake of Britain First's provocation, David, Peter and others brought listening ears and gifts of roses to shopkeepers, who felt isolated at the weekend.

It was important to us to show them that a Christian response to such actions is to show concern for those who were left bruised and to help calm fears and restore hope.

PM's plan ill-thought out

WHAT a cheek. Whatever next?

Mr Cameron has dared to suggest that all Muslim women living in this country should be able to speak English. Doesn't he realise that such a move could seriously threaten the very fabric of large swathes of Muslim family life in England? Doesn't he realise that one important reason behind British Muslim men obtaining young wives from Pakistani villages is to ensure they don't arrive here with any dangerous ideas about such things as equality and human rights? If they learnt English they might even be tempted to go out alone and begin to develop minds of their own.

Sorry Mr Cameron you're not keeping up with the plot: you really must pay more attention to the sensibilities of our immigrant guests and our responsibilities towards them. For example, listen to that headteacher who asks that we re-adjust the GCSE exam season every year to avoid its coinciding with the moving feast of Ramadan.

If we were to go along with Mr Cameron's outrageously radical ideas we could run the risk of assimilating millions of people from different cultures. Yet the persistent mantra from our leaders is that we should be celebrating our differences. But, surely, if they become assimilated there won't be any differences left to celebrate.

They must make up their minds: is the aim for immigrants to integrate or are they to remain in separate, parallel societies? You can't have it both ways. And you can't keep dodging the issue forever. No wonder there's so much confusion out there.

Scrap High Speed Two

IN reference to the subsidisation of railway passenger fares by the taxpayer I would like to advocate that the £50bn High Speed Rail Two project is cancelled on the basis that there was no real democratic consultation with the citizens of this country who have seen services cut and taxes increased.

The economic benefit from HS2 is next to nothing in the grand scheme of things and also because the proposed £50bn+ sum could be better invested in four key projects that I know will have the unanimous support of two economic groups who have been marginalised for far too long in the United Kingdom – rail passengers and motorists. The £50bn saved from cancelling HS2 should be apportioned in equal sums.

I propose that the sums should be apportioned as such; £15bn invested in reducing rail fares, £10bn invested in existing infrastructure, £15bn invested in cutting fuel duty for motorists, and £10bn invested in ending overcrowding on trains through the purchasing of more rolling stock.

Supported Lodgings Scheme

"Supporting Vulnerable Young People to Independence"

Every year approx. 10,000* young people leave care and start the next season of their journey. For many that can be a daunting and unsettling experience. *(sourced DoE 2013)

Run by the YMCA, the Supported Lodgings Scheme offers support to young people aged 16-20, helping this transition by placing them within the household. Hosts can be families or single people; we welcome expressions of interest from all.

As a host, you would provide a spare bedroom and non-intrusive support so that a young person can develop their independent living skills in a safe and secure environment.

Placements can last between weeks to up to 2 years. Weekly remuneration is given.

For more information please email sarah.collins@ymcabedfordshire.org

GOING STRONG:
Russell Kelly is instruments on the High Street

A song and a dance for big birthday bash

BY CARL MUNGAZI
carl.mungazi@lutononsunday.co.uk

A MUSIC shop is getting ready to mark 30 years of hitting the right notes.

Octave Music, in High Street North in Dunstable, has been supplying instruments and books since it opened its doors on February 1, 1986.

The shop was founded by local Barrie Freeman, and current owner Russell Kelly joined in 1988 despite having just left school at the age of 16.

In 1997 he took over the shop and built it up to what it is now. He said his success was down to a 'loyal customer base' which has kept him going while other music stores have closed down.

He said: "I have followed through the core traditions of what Barrie started but you also have to change with the times. When I took over I did not want to change the name because I had been here for nine years building up its values."

"We do tweak things when fashion changes and change what we stock but in whatever you do, you need customer service. You don't always have that over the internet because people want to come in and hear and feel the instrument."

Time to stop the mucking around

carl.mungazi@lutononsunday.co.uk

INCONSIDERATE dog and horse owners not clearing up after their animals are being told to clean up.

Sibel Kenrick, of Whitwell Close, Luton, said it is 'selfish' of people to leave animal faeces in areas used regularly by schoolchildren.

Last August, Mrs Kenrick expressed concern over the amount of dog mess she was coming across each morning.

And now she has raised the issue again after noticing a large amount of horse droppings in the area.

Luton Borough Council said it was running an anti-dog fouling campaign, with its dog wardens regularly patrolling 'known problems'.

Mrs Kenrick said: "People are so selfish - how can they do this? I saw schoolkids asking why it wasn't been cleaned.

"When I called the council they said no-one had called them, so if you don't call them how can they clean it?"

"Does it not matter that children are walking there?"

"Every morning I have to

What do YOU think?

FOUL PLAY: Sibel Kenrick wants residents to clean up their acts take my children to school and now you can see lots of worms in the poo and you have children walking there."

Kimberly McGuinness, from Sunshine Riding School in Warden Hill Road, said horse owners had to be 'responsible' with their animals.

She said: "It would not be any of my horses because they are not allowed to go out in public.

"Sensible horse owners know that we are supposed to clean up after our horses."

A council spokesman said: "Responsible owners dispose of their dog's mess properly in a bin, however, sadly there are still a few owners who prefer to ignore what their pet is leaving behind on the streets, paths or park.

"This is not only unpleasant but also illegal and dangerous and there is no excuse."

BIRDSFOOT LANE PHARMACY

Wouldn't it be easier having your prescription medicines delivered direct to your door?

REGISTER FREE TODAY

With nothing to lose except those trips to the surgery and to the chemist, it makes sense to register for our NHS repeat prescription service now.

Call us on 01582 591616 or register online at www.birdsfootpharmacy.co.uk

As simple as 1-2-3

Once you have registered with us, you can order your prescription by post, online or by phone.

- 1 We phone or e-mail to remind you when your prescription is due and confirm what you would like ordered. If you prefer, simply phone us at any time.
- 2 We order the prescription from your surgery and they send it to us electronically.
- 3 Our pharmacists dispense your prescription, which is then delivered free to your door by our delivery driver.

No wonder 98% of our customers prefer our services. It goes without saying that we're proud of the service we offer. But most importantly, 98% of our customers say that they find the service far more convenient than getting repeat prescriptions the normal way.

Register today and get your next prescription without leaving home. It's quick and easy to register for repeat prescription deliveries from Birdsfoot Lane Pharmacy.

Call us on 01582 591616 or visit us at www.birdsfootpharmacy.co.uk

As it won't cost you or indeed the NHS a penny more or could save you so much time and effort it makes sense to register today.

SO EASY TO JOIN TODAY – WITH NO COMMITMENT

Whether you choose to join by mail, phone or online, there's absolutely no commitment – you are free to stop using us as any time.

Frequently asked questions

•Who are Birdsfoot Lane Pharmacy?

We are an approved provider of NHS prescription dispensing services. We specialize in the home delivery of medicines and currently serve hundreds of people in Luton.

•Who delivers my medicine?

Your medicines will normally be delivered by our very own drivers.

•Is delivery always free?

Yes it is, what's more, we can deliver to any address – your home, your place of work or to your carer.

•What if I'm out when my delivery arrives?

You can tell us to leave your parcel with a neighbour if you prefer. If not, our delivery driver will leave a card to arrange a redelivery for free.

•Can I switch to Birdsfoot Lane Pharmacy if I already nominated another pharmacy?

Yes. The NHS Electronic Prescription Service is a new way to let patients choose the pharmacy service that best suits their need.

NHS repeat prescriptions have never been easier

We can remind you every time a prescription is due

We receive your prescription electronically from your doctor or collect it from your surgery

We dispense and deliver it free to your door

There's no commitment, you can stop at any time

If you need repeat NHS prescriptions, we've got some very good news for you. All your repeat prescriptions can now be delivered to your home - at no extra cost – so you don't have to brave bad weather, wait for buses, find a spot to park or even rely on someone else for help.

Delivered free to your door

The new NHS Electronic Prescription Service enables doctors to send prescriptions direct to pharmacies like as Birdsfoot Lane. We then take care of all arrangements necessary to get your repeat prescriptions delivered free to your door.

Authority bins tax on garden waste

BY CARL MUNGAZI

carlmungazi@lutononsunday.co.uk

A COUNCILLOR has claimed 'victory' for residents after town hall officers scrapped a planned £35 fee for garden waste collections.

In its medium-term financial plan published last year, Luton Borough Council suggested charging residents for collecting garden rubbish in a bid to save £200,000 every year from April 2016/17.

However, residents, along with the Luton Liberal Democrats, criticised the idea and an updated plan published this year no longer includes the proposal.

Councillor David Franks, Liberal Democrat leader, claimed the authority changed its mind because the charge would cause residents to dump their garden waste in black bins, increasing the authority's landfill tax bill in the process.

He said: "This is a victory for local residents who protested very loudly about the plan and shows that if enough noise is made even our Labour council can be made to change its mind. Of course, but for the efforts of local Liberal Democrat councillors, no one would have known about the proposed tax in the first place."

A council spokesman said: "There are no current plans to charge for garden waste collection in Luton."

"The council's Waste Review Group is currently considering different ways of improving Luton's recycling rates and the efficiency of kerbside rounds that do not involve a charge to residents for garden waste collection."

Right up your street

Names refer back to some major battles

Howard Chandler looks at how warfare has shaped the titles of some of our streets...

In a previous article I told the story of the Battle of the Alma.

Two roads parallel to Alma Street, Inkerman and Gordon also have links with the Crimea.

The Battle of Inkerman, a village by the Tchernaya River in present-day Ukraine, took place on November 5, 1854, when 16,000 British and French troops took on 42,000 Russians. Twelve Victoria Crosses were awarded to British soldiers for brave actions during the battle. In 1865 the new street laid out next to Alma Street was given the name Inkerman Street.

Major-General Charles George Gordon was the favourite General of Queen Victoria. He fought in the Crimea and China, but is remembered as Gordon of Khartoum, achieving hero status during the siege in Sudan, which lasted more than ten months.

Gordon was killed in January 1885, just two days before the relief force arrived. Gordon Street in Luton was named less than eight months later.

The man who blew

BY CARL MUNGAZI

carl.mungazi@lutononsunday.co.uk

THE principal of King's House School is leading a double life.

In between running a successful independent preparatory in Leagrave High Street, Andrew Cook (pictured right) is also a successful author.

Three years ago he worked as a historical consultant on a BBC film about The Great Train Robbery, partly based on a book he wrote that same year. His latest work, The Ian Fleming Miscellany, takes a critical look at the building blocks that went into one of the most famous splices of all time.

Ever the meticulous writer, Andrew drew upon previously unseen government files to narrate how Fleming weaved together tales that spawned an incredibly successful book and film franchise.

In the question and answer below, Andrew talks about how he went about writing the book and some of the things he has discovered:

Q. What made you write the book?

A. Previous Fleming biographies have, on the whole, been long in-depth works that have typically been directed towards quite a narrow readership. Bearing in mind James Bond's popular appeal, I felt that a shorter, more concise book aimed at a wider, general readership was called for.

Q. What does the book reveal which other works on Ian Fleming have not already touched upon?

A. The book meets head-on the controversy surrounding the question of who was actually responsible for the creation of James Bond character so familiar to film audiences today.

The James Bond featured in Fleming's books was a profoundly different character from the 'film' Bond.

Critics at the time found the 'book' Bond to be a humourless, sadistic thug.

Many film companies in the 1950s rejected the opportunity of making a Bond film on this basis as well as their view that 'Bond versus the Communists' was a stale and outdated formula that shaped virtually every Fleming book.

In the late 1950s Fleming was introduced to film producer Kevin McClory and screenwriter Jack Whittingham.

They told him that if Bond was to successfully make the transition to movies then the character would need an overhaul.

Equally, Bond needed a nemesis in the same way Sherlock Holmes was pitted

James Bond's cover

Again).

Q. How did you go about researching the book?

A. I was able to consult MI5, MI6, naval intelligence and air ministry files from where Fleming found the inspiration for plots like Goldfinger and Casino Royale.

I also managed to access the papers of several friends and associates of Fleming, which gave an additional angle in terms of their take on events.

Q. What is the biggest myth surrounding Ian Fleming?

A. That he was solely responsible for the creation of the 'movie' Bond and the massively successful film franchise that followed.

For example, Fleming was opposed to Sean Connery playing Bond as he didn't want a working-class actor playing the role of an Etonian gentleman.

He wanted actor David Niven to play the part.

Q. What can readers expect to learn from the book?

A. An insight into how Fleming wrote his books and how he used real life names, characters and events to knit together his stories, not to mention his occasional reliance on other people's ideas and story plots.

SECRET HISTORY: Contrary to popular belief, author Ian Fleming (pictured) did not single-handedly create the James Bond persona against Moriarty. McClory and Whittingham therefore conceived Ernst-Stavro Blofeld and the Spectre organisation.

They also built many of the concepts in their film script that would later become key features of the novel Thunderball.

When the novel appeared McClory took legal action against Fleming for plagiarism.

He won his case and was also awarded the right to produce the 'Thunderball' movie and the right to a remake of the film, which he did in 1983 (Never Say Never

CHANGING IT UP: Chima Martin's new children's play arena is one of two new attractions at leisure centre

It's a full house of fun and jumping at the Galaxy

A LEISURE centre in the town centre is now fully occupied following the arrival of a trampoline park and a children's play arena.

Jump Arena and Kid 'n' Play, have joined a host of other businesses in setting up shop at the Galaxy Centre in Bridge Street.

Other developments at the centre include Nando's restaurant, which has been given permission to increase its capacity by building a new mezzanine floor.

Chima Martin, owner of Kid 'n' Play, said he started his venture to fill a gap in the market for children and families.

He said: "I felt it would be good to give this to the kids and it seemed like a huge gap in the market, not just commercially, but for kids in general."

"I just thought it would be a good idea to open this and make it a high end place."

Bashir Dalvi, Galaxy centre manager, added: "This means the Galaxy will be a go to leisure centre for Luton and means we can provide a family friendly arena."

"As a town centre location the Galaxy is ideal because it has good transport links and there are lots of car parks."

A RARE bald squirrel rescued by wildlife lovers has died of skin cancer.

'Baldy', as the squirrel became known after numerous sightings, was rescued by an animal charity in November last year.

Wildlife experts were concerned that her lack of fur meant she could die in a cold snap.

Beds Wildlife Rescue confirmed on Wednesday on its website the unlucky creature had died this week at an animal sanctuary.

It stated: "St Tiggywinkles took the squirrel in for us and have been amazingly kind and helpful.

"They carried out tests to see if her baldness can be cured, but very sadly the tests showed skin cancer.

"I have been advised that the little squirrel has passed away."

When pictures emerged of the squirrel online, animal lovers took to the streets of Dunstable, to try and track her down over fears she could freeze to death.

SAD LIFE: The bald grey squirrel, named 'Baldy' by its rescuers, who was discovered in Dunstable last year has died of skin cancer

The follically-challenged rodent eluded capture four times from Beds Wildlife Rescue before finally being brought in last year.

There are a number of medical conditions which can cause animals such as squirrels to lose their hair, such as ringworm, mange or even the stress of a confrontation with a predator.

It was originally thought that Baldy was suffering from dermatophytosis, a fungus which attacks the shaft of the hair when it emerges from the skin.

Despite the danger from the cold, hair loss conditions are not generally life-threatening so Baldy was not thought to be at risk when she first arrived at St Tiggywinkles.

Members of Facebook page Spotted in Dunstable joked about knitting the poor creature a fur coat and that it could have been stripped of its fur by mates on a stag do.

Airline under fire for passenger payments

BY CARL MUNGAZI

carl.mungazi@lutononsunday.co.uk

DELAYS in compensation payments to customers have led to court bailiffs being told to seize goods from an international airline's headquarters, a specialist claims company has said.

FairPlane UK, which represents passengers who have experienced delayed flights, said it had an 'enormous number of live cases' against Luton-based easyJet, including one where it had to contact bailiffs.

Regulations require airlines to pay customers compensation if their flight lands more than three hours late.

However, Daniel Morris, FairPlane's director, claimed that easyJet made it 'hard' for passengers seeking compensation.

He said: "We have an enormous number of live cases against easyJet and we have been in regular contact with them.

"In some cases easyJet have even confirmed in writing that they owe this money, and have agreed a timescale to pay it, but have simply failed to do so.

"I find it disheartening that easyJet are announcing milestones highlighting the loyalty of its passengers and yet feel it is in order to fail to pay a debt to the very same people who use their airline."

An easyJet spokesman said: "Customers who believe they are due compensation can apply to easyJet directly by completing a simple online form available on our help site.

"We try and get back to them within three working days with an answer and if payment is due, aim to have the money in their account within a further 21 days.

"We are working to speed this process up with the aim of refunding within seven days."

House searched for firearms

POLICE were called to a house on Tuesday morning after a firearm was found in the property.

A scene guard was put in place at the home in Midland Road, Luton.

A spokeswoman for Bedfordshire Police said: "We were called shortly before 5am to reports of a firearm having been discovered at a property in Midland Road.

"Officers attended and a scene guard remained in place while enquiries were carried out."

No arrests were made at the scene of the incident but an investigation is underway.

A spokeswoman for Bedfordshire Police added: "Anyone with any information about this incident is asked to call police on 101."

Reynolds belting his way to big time

BY NICK SMITH

nick.smith@lutononsunday.co.uk

IT was initially just something to improve his focus but boxing could now be one young man from Luton's ticket to stardom. Jordan Reynolds captained England against Norway last weekend and now has his sights set on the top. If his career continues on the same trajectory, you wouldn't bet against him getting there.

A former baggage handler at Luton Airport, 20-year-old Jordan is now a sponsored amateur boxer who trains at Hoddesdon Boxing Club. He says the sport has given him a sense of direction in life.

"I was quite a frustrated kid, I was easily led and needed to release some energy," he said.

"I started off kickboxing when I was around 12 and then moved into boxing when I was 15 after being kicked out of school."

Jordan trained for 12 months before having his first fight and, with just a few bouts under his belt, he entered the Amateur British Boxing Championships for the first time aged just 16. It was here that he put in the performance which made people take notice.

RING LEADER: Jordan Reynolds is fast becoming a boxing star - and it all started in Luton

He added: "I've always thought you've just got to give things a go and I went and entered despite everyone telling me not to."

"I ended up losing the final against Isaac MacLeod, who has since turned professional and is promoted by Frank Warren." It was then that

Jordan realised he had to take the sport more seriously and sold his PS2, clothes and other things to fund his membership at the prestigious West Ham Boxing Club, before moving to Hoddesdon Boxing Club.

Jordan is well aware of the proud history that Luton has in the sport but feels he can take it to a new level.

He said: "I have the right people around me and contacts around the world. In just a few weeks I'm going to be sparring in a number of gyms in Las Vegas."

With his dream getting closer, Jordan reflects on what boxing has done for him as a person.

He said: "It's made me more of a gentleman; it's true to say the sport has changed my life. My one bit of advice to anyone, if you're good at something, whatever it may be, is stick at it and it could change your life."

Jordan will next be in action on February 12 at Luton Rugby Club, where he will be making the first defence of his English Middleweight title.

Kathbum hits MK with celeb gags galore

WHEN Katherine Ryan takes her new show on the road, you can be sure of one thing: Kathbum will include the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth. Well, sort of.

"This show is pretty honest; I might take some liberties, but comedians do the opposite from politicians. Politicians will tell little truths that if you see them written down in a newspaper seem to be true, but the bigger picture is an entire lie. Comedians will tell tiny lies while the big picture is hopefully more truthful. I'll change bits of stories and names so that a story about my dad is actually about my uncle and a story about that boyfriend is actually about this boyfriend."

A huge hit at the 2015 Edinburgh Fringe, Kathbum is further confirmation that London-based Canadian Ryan is on a scintillatingly rich vein of form right now. The show features ruminations on our celebrity culture obsession (a topic she also explored in her last touring show, Glam Role Model), and more personal material about the recent wedding of her younger sister back in their hometown of Sarnia. Extra jeopardy for that event was provided by the fact that Katherine's sister married a Filipino whose family remained less than enamoured by a satirical remark made by the comedian on Mock The Week in 2013 (the real target of her joke was the cosmetics industry). Across the course of a lengthy tour, Ryan is always keen to include topical material. "It's tough to do an identical set on and off for a whole year and an audience can tell when you're just delivering lines, so I try to mix things up. The first section will be celebrity and news stuff with some local bits and that has to evolve because news keeps happening." Katherine Ryan, the Canadian comedienne who has been a regular guest on TV shows such as Have I Got News For You, writes a column for the weekly music magazine NME and has not only presented Live at the Apollo but also a series on competitive hairdressing, brings her new stand up show, Kathbum, to Milton Keynes next month – on Valentine's Day!!

Short Breaks

The Dawlish Railway & the Avocet Line

Departing on 11 March 2016

South Devon is a coastal paradise best enjoyed by boat and train, so we have included one cruise and two railway journeys on this break. Our first excursion takes you along the Riviera Line, a picturesque railway which hugs the coast on its way from Exeter to Paignton – highlights include the famous South Devon sea wall, and the rebuilt Dawlish Railway. Our next railway trip takes you alongside the River Exe on the Avocet Line, from the maritime town of Topsham to Exmouth. In between, we enjoy a relaxing cruise on the River Exe, with a traditional cream tea to complete our Devonshire experience.

BOOK

Peter runs a new book up yardarm

SAILORS ON THE ROCKS
PETER C SMITH
ON SALE NOW

A NAVAL enthusiast from Bedfordshire who turned his disappointment into success has published his 76th book.

After multiple applications for the Royal Navy, Peter C Smith found himself faced with rejection due to his poor eyesight.

But instead of being defeated, he began to write about the topic which he found fascinating, and has made his name as one of the world's leading authors on all things maritime - not to mention authoring a host of publications on aeronautical and military history.

Peter said: "The men in my family have a strong military connection so I have always been drawn to this topic, and I am lucky to have had opportunities to travel the world and speak to people who have had incredible experiences."

"It was my passion to unearth things people did not know about naval history, so over the past 50 years I have travelled everywhere I could to get first-hand accounts to share with the public."

"When I wrote my first book in 1968, I looked into getting it published, and straight out of the gate I got rejected."

"This really got to me and it felt like the end, so I threw my manuscript against the wall and left it to die there."

"But my wife, Pat, gathered it all together, handed it to me, and told me to send it out again, so I have her to thank for my success."

And now, many years of success later, he has just put out his 76th book, entitled Sailors on the Rocks.

For more than 300 years the Royal Navy really did 'Rule the Waves', in the literal sense, with its ascendancy in the world's oceans. This book presents a fascinating insight into the malevolent power of the sea and storms over man's creation and dominion, chronicling some of the most dramatic shipwrecks ever to have occurred in our seas.

Peter added: "This has been one of my most fascinating books to research yet, but it has been a different experience."

"Over the years, the people who I once used for my first-hand accounts have since died, and access to archive material has become a lot more difficult."

"This has certainly changed my process of writing, but it has opened up a new door of new material that for many years I never had access to, and I hope that this latest book provides some interesting insight for naval and maritime enthusiasts."

If you have an interest in the nautical world, grab a copy of Peter's book from amazon.co.uk

AS part of Ryan's celebrity section, she'll be discussing Taylor Swift, Cheryl Fernandez-Versini, Peter Andre and the late Joan Rivers.

"A lot of my celebrity material is looking at the meta narrative and at what's happening behind the scenes. They start to get a bit fat because they're on TV shows where they're paid to get drunk and fight, then the managers arrange for photos to be taken of their star on the beach wearing a pink bikini and eating a McDonald's." Tickets for the show start at £19.85 and can be purchased from atg.tickets.com/miltonkeynes

SUMMER PLAY
GROVE THEATRE
NEXT SUNDAY

CALLING all aspiring performers, crew members and musicians - your theatre needs you.

The Grove Theatre is holding auditions for places on its annual summer musical project and it promises to be the biggest and best yet.

Since 2007 the Dunstable-based venue has made sure young people between the age of seven and 19 are given a chance to explore their acting and technical abilities in putting on a professional production.

Up to 100 talented hopefuls will be acting, play instruments, singing, dancing and pulling the strings back stage in this year's production of Beauty and The Beast.

Anna Elmore, education manager, at the Grove, is in charge of co-ordinating the theatre's community projects.

She said: "We have done it every year since 2007 and the idea is to give children a chance in which they come in and learn how to do a full scale musical production on stage.

"Children audition for roles in the show but we also have technical roles. All of the participants come each day and then at the end of that we have a performance.

"So in between they are rehearsing and learning what happens back stage. They put on this production and it includes things such as costumes.

"They get support from industry professionals but really, the focus is on them to get that experience behind them."

Previous summer productions have included West Side Story and Beauty and The Beast, with Oliver being the first ever show.

Anna said: "In all of our years of doing this we have unearthed some gems and in the weekly classes we do there is always one or two who really shine, so it is nice.

"The gentleman who currently directs our summer projects is an agent as well and some of the kids last year have joined his agency.

"It is really difficult to decide what to do because a lot of the plays are not available, so it depends on licences and what is happening at other theatres.

"It's also about the popularity of the show as that has an effect.

"The feedback we get is that the young people love being on stage and there's always lots of tears at the end because they do not want it to end.

"They get to develop social skills like talking to people, they always go away with lots of lovely memories and even the parents say how much they have enjoyed it."

Auditions will be held on February 7, with registration at 10am and February 11, with registration at 4.30pm.

For an application pack visit the Take Part section of grovetheatre.co.uk or e-mail groveeducation@1Life.co.uk

What's hot in Luton

IT'S almost half-term!
 It's also almost lambing season at Mead Open Farm, which makes the perfect excuse to get the kids out of the house. From February 13 you can meet all the new-borns in the lamb nursery and help the farmers bottlefeed them. Expectations are high at the farm so there is a good chance you might catch one being born. The 24/7 LambCam will also be operational for those who can't get enough. For booking information visit meadopen-farm.co.uk

NEXT Generation Youth Theatre is inviting everyone to a 'work in progress' performance of its 'In Doing Nothing I Found Me' production on February 16. The play, about a journey through everything to find something or nothing, is not complete but NGYT wants feedback from locals.

WOBURN Estate is holding its next wedding fair on February 21 for those involved in planning or getting ready for the big day. There will be a variety of pop-up shops in the period Antique Quarter of the Sculpture Gallery and afternoon tea to finish things off. To book your place call 01525 292172.

Graceful house for a princely sum

LONG before William and Kate and even Charles and Diana, the fairytale royal nuptials of film star Grace Kelly and Prince Rainier III of Monaco filled newspapers worldwide.

High rollers and the aristocracy from around Europe arrived with fabulous gifts for the Hollywood princess and her real-life prince, which proved a magnet for Europe's thieves; $50,000 worth of jewels were swiped from one guest and another $8,000 in gems were taken from a bridesmaid's hotel room.

This was ironic as Kelly had first met Rainier while in the south of France filming To Catch A Thief in 1955, a romantic thriller with Cary Grant as a retired cat burglar who has to save his reformed reputation by catching a new 'cat' preying on wealthy tourists in the French Riviera.

Kelly only made two more films in 1956 before she left acting to take on official duties and charity work. She died aged 52 when her car plunged off a hairpin curve on the Grand Corniche above Monaco in 1982.

While filming in France, Kelly fell in love with the Castle of la Croix des Gardes near Cannes, where some of the scenes were shot. Built in 1919, the castle – with its Florentine-style facades and manicured gardens overlooking the Bay of Cannes – sits in 24 acres and has 13 bedrooms and nine bathrooms.

There's also a guest house, staff quarters, an orangery, large infinity-edged swimming pool, winter garden and Turkish lodge.

The agent won't disclose the price but French newspaper Le Figaro reckons that you won't get much change for $53m.

House that's a piece of history

FANCY sitting down to dinner in a dining room that positively oozes history? This one, at Grade I listed Great Tangley Manor, has timbers from the Armada fleet in the wood panelling and royal signatures on the window.

The hunting lodge – a favourite of King George V who stayed there with Queen Mary – has just celebrated its 1,000th birthday. It's included in the Domesday Book in 1086, where it was described as a royal hunting lodge.

It was a medieval hall house in the 13th and 14th centuries before getting a new look in 1582 when some of the timbers from the Armada fleet were incorporated into the design.

After more works early in the 19th century, the Royal family, including George and Mary, visited the property and signed the window of the dining room with a diamond ring.

Another royal who felt the need to record his visit on panes of glass was King George VI, who signed the dressing room windows of the master suite.

The house was finally split into two properties in 1959 and one of them – an impressive five-bedroom moated mansion on the outskirts of Womersley near Guildford – is available to rent for an eye-watering £5,650 a week.

The manor has a reception room with French doors leading to the courtyard, as well as a library, study, bright glass panelled breakfast room, master suite with dressing room and a hand-made Harrods en-suite bathroom, and indoor pool. Outside, there's a hard tennis court and hut, stables and paddocks.

Address where Bowie escaped from his fans

The 1970s were a hedonistic whirlwind of touring, making music and drugs for David Bowie – and you probably wouldn't have wanted the androgynous glam rock icon as a neighbour.

With scores of adoring fans making pilgrimages to his home in Beckenham, the singer decamped into Bond actress Diana Rigg's flat in London with wife Angie and their son Duncan in 1973.

Bowie was hitting his creative stride, having just released Aladdin Sane, his first chart-topping album, and by the end of that year had six albums in the Top 40. The BBC's Maida Vale studios, where Bowie recorded several sessions, were also round the corner.

The family lived in the flat for six months until October 1973 when they were served a notice by the Game of Thrones and Avengers star's managers complaining about "excessive noise".

Soon afterwards, Bowie quit the UK for America and Berlin, and didn't return to live full time in London again. However, his decadent lifestyle continued unabated for many years; hooked on cocaine, Bowie lived at a lavish suite in Manhattan's Sherry-Netherland hotel for a year in 1974, enjoying parties and jam sessions with fellow musicians including John Lennon.

A four-bedroom flat on the raised ground floor in the Edwardian mansion block in Maida Vale, Vale Court, is on the market for £2.395m. Boasting ornate decorated ceilings and floor-to-ceiling windows, according to the agent it's great for entertaining on a grand scale, with an impressive entrance hall and large double reception room with double doors leading to the kitchen.

A space oddity lived next door

DAVID Bowie's wife Iman only revealed recently that the family had made a secret final trip to London 18 months ago when the singer said an emotional farewell to his home city after being diagnosed with cancer.

The trip took in the Tower of London, the London Eye, and the house where he spent his early childhood in Brixton.

Born David Jones – changing his name to avoid confusion with Davy Jones from the Monkees – Bowie lived at 40 Stansfield Road from 1947 until 1953 when, aged six, the family moved to Bromley. Last year, the four-bedroom terrace house sold for £1m.

The property is just minutes away from where thousands gathered to pay tribute to 'Brixton's Own Boy' after news of his death, laying flowers and candles at his mural and taking part in an impromptu sing-along of his hits.

The iconic rock star spent his final years in New York with his wife Iman and daughter Lexi, 15, where he lived the life of a family man. Although he'd retreated further from the public eye, Bowie released his critically acclaimed last album Blackstar at the start of the year.

For die-hard fans, a property next door to his birthplace has just come on the market. This top floor, one-bedroom flat in a converted Victorian house is just down the road from Brixton Tube. In a quiet residential road, the agent reckons it's in an excellent condition and is on the market for £350,000.

Will there be a race to rent this house?

DARE-DEVIL Stirling Moss is known as one of the best all-round racing drivers in the sport's history.

Nicknamed 'Mr Motor Racing' in his hey-day, he became a professional driver at 18 and secured one of the sport's greatest ever race wins at the 1955 Mille Miglia. Driving a Mercedes-Benz 300 SLR and reaching speeds of 170mph on public roads, he finished the hair-raising 1,000 mile road race in just over 10 hours – setting a record which was never broken.

Moss raced 107 different types of car until a near-fatal accident at Goodwood in 1962 forced him to quit the sport. A career in property followed and he bought this three-bedroom Mayfair pad in 1954 for £12,000. Moss designed the house with gadgets which were well ahead of their time, including an automated system for running a bath at a pre-set temperature, which could be triggered by pushing a button on one of many control panels around the house.

He moved out after seven years, but the 86-year-old liked the street so much he moved to a bigger house further down the road – his current six-storey high-tech home.

Moss's former place in Shepherd Street remains a stylish modern home with sleek spiral staircase as one of its standout features. The five-storey townhouse has two reception rooms, three bathrooms, dining room, and cinema room, as well as a double length garage, two private terraces and walled garden. It's available to rent at £4,000 a week.

CARE MANAGER

● THE LEARNING DISABILITY TEAM Ref: 5338

£28,967 - £30,357 per annum

Full-Time, 37 hours per week

We are a progressive and dynamic integrated team of Registered Social Workers, Community Learning Disability Nurses, Independent Lifestyles Officers and Team Administrators working to provide a quality service to adults who have a learning disability.

We value our staff as individuals and welcome initiative and fresh thinking. With the relevant qualifications in either Social Work or Nursing we will support you to achieve a high level of professional practice through working with other committed professionals, regular supervision and learning and development opportunities.

If you are knowledgeable about The Care Act 2014, have excellent assessment and recording skills, have confidence when working with a multidisciplinary team and have relevant safeguarding experience then this is the job for you.

We currently have the above vacancy within our team. In order to apply you need to have experience working within the field of Learning Disability.

For an informal discussion about this position, please contact:
Sarah Cavill on Sarah.cavill@centralbedfordshire.gov.uk or Natalie Mayles on Natalie.Mayles@centralbedfordshire.gov.uk

Closing date: 14th February 2016

For any other recruitment related queries, please contact: HR Services Recruitment Team on 0300 300 8157

Central Bedfordshire Council is an equal opportunities employer. We welcome enquiries from everyone and value diversity in the workplace.

To maintain a fair and consistent approach for applicants, it is Central Bedfordshire Council's policy to only consider applications made via our online application system and we therefore thank you for not submitting your CV.

A manual application form is available on request if you are unable to access the online application system.

Safeguarding:

Central Bedfordshire Council is committed to safeguarding and promoting the welfare of children, young people and vulnerable adults and expects all employees, volunteers and contractors to share this commitment.

This post is subject to the disclosure of criminal records.

ROAD TRAFFIC REGULATION ACT 1984 - SECTION 14(1)(a) AND REGULATION 16(2) OF THE MOTORWAY TRAFFIC (ENGLAND AND WALES) REGULATIONS 1982
THE M1 MOTORWAY (JUNCTIONS 10 TO 11) NORTHBOUND (TEMPORARY RESTRICTION AND PROHIBITION OF TRAFFIC) ORDER 2016

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that Highways England Company Limited (a) intends to make an Order on the M1 Motorway in Bedfordshire to enable carriageway resurfacing works to be carried out in safety.

The works are expected to take place over 1 night (11pm-5am, Monday-Friday) commencing on or after Thursday 18 February 2016.

The effect of the Order would be to impose a speed restriction of 50 miles per hour, with no overtaking, on the M1 northbound carriageway from a point 1000 metres south of the northbound exit slip road at J10 to the centre point of the A505 overbridge at J11, at times directing traffic to run on the hard shoulder.

The temporary mandatory speed restriction (which would not apply to emergency services or special forces vehicles) would be clearly indicated by traffic signs throughout the works.

The Order would come into force on 15 February 2016 and have a maximum duration of 18 months.

Mrs Y A Tomkins, Highways England Company Limited.
Registered in England and Wales under company No. 9346363.
Registered Office: Bridge House, Walnut Tree Close, Guildford, Surrey, GU1 4LZ.

E does the numbers with new engines and styling

The new Mercedes-Benz E-Class Saloon is now available to order in the UK, priced from £35,935 OTR, ahead of first deliveries in May. Two trim levels are available, SE and AMG Line, and two engines, the E 220 d and E 350 d. The UK range starts with the E 220 d SE, priced from £35,935, with the E 220 d AMG Line from £38,430. The E 350 d SE starts at £44,930, and the E 350 d AMG Line at £47,425.

The E 220 d uses an all-new four-cylinder 2.0-litre bi-turbo engine producing 195 hp and 400 Nm, with the nine-speed 9G-Tronic automatic gearbox that is standard on all new UK E-Class Saloon models. As well as helping to create seamlessly smooth shifts, the 9G-Tronic gearbox also contributes to the E 220 d's low 102 g/km CO2 rating and high 72.4 mpg economy. By comparison the previous-generation E 220 CDI Saloon, launched in 2009, produced 170 hp from its 2.1-litre engine, and returned a then-impressive 53.3 mpg and 139 g/km of CO2. Acceleration from 0-62 mph in the new E 200 d takes just 7.3 seconds – 0.4 seconds faster than the outgoing E 250 CDI.

ALL NEW: The Mercedes-Benz E-Class Saloon makes a bold statement

First deliveries of the six-cylinder E 350 d are due in the summer. This produces 258 hp and 620 Nm, making for 0-62 mph in 5.9 sec, while emitting 133 g/km and returning 55.4 mpg. These are improvements over the previous-generation E 350 CDI Saloon of 27 hp; 80 Nm; 0.9 sec; 48 g/km and 14.5 mpg. The petrol-electric hybrid E 350 e (279 hp; 600 Nm; 6.2 sec; 49 g/km; 134.5 mpg) joins the UK line-up later in 2016.

Standard specification on the SE includes: Garmin Map Pilot navigation system with 8.4-inch display; Parktronic parking sensors with reversing camera and Park Pilot self-parking system; Collision Prevention Assist Plus autonomous emergency braking system; Pre-Safe anticipatory safety system (including Pre-Safe Sound, which helps prevent damage to hearing); 64-colour selectable LED interior lighting; two-zone automatic climate control; three-spoke multifunction steering wheel with dual touch-pads; leather upholstery with heated front seats; LED headlights and taillights; electrically folding mirrors and 17-inch wheels (18-inch on the E 350 d).

AMG Line models come with AMG exterior styling including unique bumpers and side skirts; 19-inch alloy wheels; perforated front brake discs; three-spoke AMG steering wheel; and Artico leather and Dynamica microfiber upholstery with seat comfort package.

All E 350 d models come with Air Body Control multi-chamber air suspension as standard, as well as COMAND satellite navigation with 12.3-inch display and remote online services.

Two options packages – Premium and Premium Plus – are available, as well as a host of individual options, colours and trims.

Honda Jazz

Take a look inside...

An astonishing number of Honda Jazz owners buy another and the third generation version we're looking at here aims to keep them loyal. But the Japanese brand also needs to attract new converts to its clever little supermini, something that will be easier to do with this MK3 model thanks to its smarter looks, better driving experience and optional hybrid power. For very good reasons, this is the supermini that industry insiders most commonly recommend.

The Jazz rides on Honda's new global B-segment chassis and as such is both lighter and more structurally rigid than its predecessor. The suspension is also lighter, with struts up front and a torsion beam rear end combining with a longer wheelbase to better isolate road noise and surface imperfections.

The revised dampers also assist in improving ride quality and a redesigned electric power-assisted steering system claims to deliver better feedback for the driver. Yes, you heard that right: feedback. In a Honda Jazz. Things have certainly changed.

The only Jazz engine choice is a 1.3 litre i-VTEC petrol unit with 102PS of power. It's mated to a six-speed manual transmission which replaces the old five-speed 'box, and there's also the option of a semi-automatic CVT transmission.

The interior has come on leaps and bounds with a huge windscreen that imparts a genuine feel of airiness up front. It extends way overhead, meeting the roof panel a good few inches aft of where you'd normally expect that junction.

This, along with the large front quarter windows, provides respectable forward visibility. Boot capacity measures 354-litres, with space extending to 884-litres with the 'Magic Seats' folded. The dash is dominated by either a five-inch LCD multi-information display or a seven-inch Honda Connect infotainment touchscreen, depending on model grade.

This smarter third generation Honda Jazz has evolved, with its ethos shifting subtly. One thing hasn't changed though. Ask almost any motoring expert to recommend the supermini they'd buy with their own money and many will still plump for this one. It isn't the feistiest car of its kind on a twisty road, but we'd trade that for this model's excellent ride and superb gearbox.

Renault are Electrifying in Europe

Renault is the best performing brand in Europe in electric vehicles sales, with a market share of 23.6 per cent (or 25.2 per cent including Twizy) and 23,086 units registered in 2015 up 49 per cent on 2014. One out of five electric cars sold in Europe was a Renault Z.E. vehicle in 2015.

Jaguar XE is Safest Large Family Car

The Jaguar XE has scored another victory over its rivals to be rated the safest Large Family Car on sale by crash safety testing body, Euro NCAP. It's the latest in a long line of successes for the XE, launched just nine months ago, which is also included on the shortlist for the prestigious European Car of the Year (ECOTY) title for 2016.

John Cooper Works Convertible

Potent, race-bred John Cooper Works performance is now available as an open-air experience, with the debut of the new MINI John Cooper Works Convertible this spring. This new model uses the same 2-litre TwinPower Turbo engine as found in MINI John Cooper Works Hatch, complete with its impressive 231hp and 320nm of torque. So equipped, this latest addition to the MINI Convertible range can reach 62mph from rest in 6.5 seconds, before reaching a top speed of 150mph.

So much promise in mercurial cricketers

WHO would have thought this time last year that the England cricket team would not only regain the Ashes, but earn a series victory against the team ranked No. 1 in Test cricket in their own backyard?

Back at the start of 2015, there were so many questions hanging over English cricket, which was about to stumble into a disastrous World Cup campaign.

Admittedly, they're hardly the only male sports team from this country you can say that last bit about recently, but everything about the state of the game over here just seemed to be a mess.

From then-Managing Director of the ECB Paul Downton making a name for himself by 'sacking' Kevin Pietersen, to head coach Peter Moores talking about 'looking at the data' and focusing on the positives after the latest ODI thrashing, English cricket was making a fool of itself.

Thankfully, the aforementioned World Cup gave it the kick up the backside it needed as it finally made them realise they had failed to move with the times.

It also led to the end of Moores' second failed stint in charge and Downton was ousted from office – it meant a fresh start.

Since then, the promise of the side has been clear, with bright young talent like Joe Root and Ben Stokes mixing to great effect with established names such as Alastair Cook, James Anderson and Stuart Broad.

We saw them go toe-to-toe with an excellent New Zealand in what was the greatest series of 50-over games I've ever seen before they gave those pesky Aussies a shock they weren't expecting last summer.

What that bizarre Ashes series did, however, was highlight that this England side, for all its promise, is a bit mercurial at the moment.

It's hard to remember a series that saw their fortunes change so wildly – as brilliant as they were in victories at Cardiff, Edgbaston and Trent Bridge, they were awful at Lord's and The Oval.

A couple of batting collapses cost them a series against Pakistan in the UAE before they rocked up in South Africa, looking for a first Test series win over the Proteas since 2004/05.

For the most part, it couldn't have gone much better, from Stokes' astonishing 258 off 198 balls in Cape Town to Broad's match-winning 6-17 in Johannesburg.

It earned them a deserved win over the four Tests, but there was a not-so-gentle reminder in Centurion this last week that they are still a work in progress.

Only they'll know if motivation was an issue, but they were ragged and sluggish in the field before producing a feeble effort with the bat on the final day when the match needed to be saved.

Bowling-wise, England look very strong, but there are question marks over Alex Hales and Nick Compton at the top of the order.

But there are a lot more reasons to be cheerful than this time last year and this summer, with the visits of Sri Lanka and Pakistan, gives them a chance to iron out these kinks in their game and become more consistent.

MASTER BLASTER: Ben Stokes has helped to reinvigorate English cricket with some spectacular displays in the last 12 months

PRIZE FIGHTER: Floyd Mayweather finished a legendary career unbeaten in 49 professional fights

BEDFORDSHIRE boxing fans are to be treated to an evening with former world champion Floyd Mayweather Jr at the Bunyan Centre, Bedford, on Sunday, February 14.

The event, which is sure to sell out fast, is the final leg of Mayweather's European tour, that takes in dates in places such as Antwerp, London, Manchester and Amsterdam.

The evening is to be compered by Sky Sports' Johnny Nelson, and Mayweather is scheduled to be spending a couple of hours answering questions and sharing some of the experiences he's had in a career that included 12 world titles across five weight divisions, and an undefeated professional record of 49-0, with 26 of those victories coming by way of a knockout.

The 38-year-old retired from the ring in September last year after defeating Andre Berto in a welterweight title fight on points.

"The platinum ticket holders will enjoy priority seating, drinks on your table, and the chance to meet Floyd, get your picture taken with him, and have the opportunity to propose one of the questions for him to answer.

"There'll be music, comedy and a charity auction on the bill as well, we'll be releasing details of all that closer to the time," said Ben Willis of Bedford-based Livegate Ltd, the company responsible for organising the evening.

"We're going to be working with Floyd on each leg of his European tour.

"We've the responsibility for producing the sound and visuals on each of the nights; we're lucky to get Floyd to come to Bedfordshire before he goes home."

Blues cruise to another victory

FOOTBALL ROUND-UP

DUNSTABLE Town made it four wins on the trot with a 3-1 win over visiting Cambridge City.

The Blues got off to a perfect start, netting after just five minutes through Danny Talbot.

However, the visitors soon hit back, with Buster Harradine levelling the game within a minute.

Just after the half hour mark the hosts retook the lead, with Talbot again finding the back of the net.

With 65 minutes gone, Dunstable put the game to bed when Steve Wales found the net to make it 3-1.

The result sees Dunstable move up from fifth to third place in the Southern League Premier Division after Weymouth FC lost 3-2 at second-bottom club Bedworth Town and Redditch United's home tie against Poole Town was called off due to a waterlogged pitch.

This was a common scene in non-league football as the wintry weather saw the local football schedule depleted with The Blues being the only of our teams in action.

Barton Rovers' clash at North Greenford United was called off yesterday morning following heavy rain overnight.

Rovers Southern Football League Division One Central clash with the division's basement club will be rearranged.

Barton are coming off the back of three games undefeated and are next in action on Saturday when Petersfield FC visit.

'Notts were more clinical'

LUTON TOWN

BY JAMES CUNLIFFE

sport@lsnmedia.co.uk

LUTON boss Nathan Jones admitted that Notts County were more clinical than his side as the Hatters dominated but lost 2-0, slipping to 16th place in League Two, ten points adrift of the play-offs.

Former Magpies captain Alan Sheehan scored an own goal against the run of play on his home debut and then Jon Stead beat a hesitant Elliot Justham to ensure the manager's first defeat, three games into his Kenilworth Road tenure.

"I want it to be difficult for sides to come to Kenilworth Road. This season it hasn't been," Jones said.

"Today, we just felt we needed that first goal. We felt that if we'd had that first goal it might have been a different story, but ifs and buts aside...the thing is, they were more clinical than us and they've got the result."

Craig Mackail-Smith had a goal disallowed while man of the match Pelly Ruddock Mpanzu should have scored in the first half, but their failure to score stretched Town's wait for a goal on home soil to three games.

Jones said: "It's a clear stat. It's one that we're working on. It's not for lack of trying and how we play. Our approach play was very, very good. We just did not have that clinical edge in the box today."

Sheehan was Jones' first signing as Luton boss and after an accomplished bow at Mansfield last week he barely put a foot wrong again, but had to listen after his own goal as the County fans sang, 'Alan Sheehan, he's one of our own.'

"That's just unfortunate because they got in down the side from us being slack defensively. Then that's just last-ditch. It's gone across the box, he's tried to defend it and it's just a little bit unfortunate," said Jones, adding: "We had two positive results [before] and I think you could see a little more fluency in our play today but, ironically, we've not won the game."

Sheehan's Magpie reunion turns sour

LUTON TOWN

BY JAMES CUNLIFFE
sport@ltnmedia.co.uk

LUTON TOWN 0
NOTTS COUNTY 2

ALAN Sheehan must have dreamt about a home Luton debut with his name sung from the Kenilworth Stands – just not like this.

The nightmare scenario saw the defender put through his own net, him beating the ground in frustration and the 390 travelling Notts County fans, used to seeing him in their colours, singing, "Alan Sheehan, he's one of our own."

Of all the times Town deserved to fall behind and lose, this was not it. Nor was it fitting that their home run stretched to three goalless games.

For the best part of an hour the Hatters battered the Magpies in every way but the one that counts. Dominance without goals doesn't win games.

Defensive blunders, however, are nothing new for Town and they cost them dear here. Sheehan's gaffe was unfortunate – such are the perils of defending – but boss Nathan Jones' first defeat was confirmed by a timid piece of goalkeeping from Elliot Justham, which allowed Jon Stead to deliver a second goal sucker punch. The smash and grab was complete.

The signs are already clear that the new manager is creating a side full of passing, penetration and with more purpose than at any stage under the previous regime this season.

It was just never going to be plain sailing. His next task is to banish this appalling record of Luton never having won a Football League game – since their return – after falling behind in a game.

Izale McLeod should have punished the hosts when he was sent clean through on goal but blazed over the bar and, at that stage, the stars seemed aligned in the home side's direction.

Seconds later Pelly Ruddock Mpanzu shrugged off challenges in the box and, from an acute angle, stung the experienced palms of Roy Carroll though it looked very much a case of when, not if, the Hatters would break the deadlock.

Stead forced Justham into a reaction save and then pulled another across the face of goal where McLeod was waiting to steer home, but skewed wide. Still, the momentum was Luton's.

Then came their big chance. Ruddock Mpanzu steamed into the County box but somehow blasted wide from five yards out.

It would prove costly because Luton were dumb-struck in the second half when Wes Atkinson crossed and Sheehan diverted the ball past Justham, in off his shin.

And they found themselves 2-0 down against the run of play soon after when Stead burst through. Justham hesitated off his line and, by the time he'd committed it was too late and the striker suffered injury to force the ball beyond him.
